

OKG's security requirements

Everyone who needs access to Swedish nuclear power plants must go through an access control and a security check aimed at preventing that prohibited items are brought into the monitored area. At OKG, we have in the present situation three different security checks; goods, individuals and vehicle checks.

In order to facilitate the entrance procedures, we would like you note the following:

- Keep your access documentation ready at the entrance and if any access documents are missing, please turn to the central checkpoint reception desk
- Make sure that you go to the correct security check; goods, personnel, or the vehicle check
- You must always wear your OKG ID card visibly
- Comply with the security personnel's instructions
- You need to be aware that there might be queues forming at certain times of the day, both at the personnel check as well as at the vehicle check
- Plan your visit to OKG well in advance prior to your arrival
- You need to have knowledge about prohibited items that may not be brought into the monitored area.

Entrance

Goods

All inward goods are searched by the use of metal detectors, luggage X-ray system, and explosive detection dogs in order to ensure that no prohibited items are brought into the monitored area.

- Please, show consideration for working personnel and working dogs off the leash. Pay attention and follow the traffic regulations.

Individuals

All individuals are searched by the use of metal detectors and luggage X-ray similar to security checks at airports.

- You may be randomly selected for an additional security check consisting of scanning by the use of an explosives material detector, and exhalation sample, for which the search generally takes a few minutes.
- Place your outdoor clothes, metal objects, electronic objects, luggage, OKG ID card and mobile phone in a plastic tray on the belt conveyor at the security check.
- Laptops must be opened and put in a separate plastic tray.
- All OKG employees and civil servants are permitted to bring camera mobile phones into the monitored area.
- Contracted personnel and people on business visits may not bring camera mobile phones into the monitored area without the purpose-intended stick-on label placed on the phone close to the main lens, which is performed by personnel at the central checkpoint reception desk.
- People on educational visits may not bring camera mobile phones into the monitored area.
- Photography prohibition is in force at OKG's site area, taking pictures by using a camera mobile phone is thus not permitted. Photography requires a special photography permit and an approved camera.
- In case the entrance to the site is interrupted before the security check, you must deactivate that particular entrance process on a card reader placed close to the exit revolving gates in the entrance building. This must be done in order to enable activation at the following entrance to the site.

Vehicles

In order to be permitted to bring in a vehicle to the restricted area, a security check of the vehicle must take place. Only vehicles with official business are granted access.

- Stop at the traffic lights at the vehicle check and contact the personnel via the entry phone and wait for green light.
- Please, make sure you have your valid authorization documents and the phone number to your OKG contact close at hand before you arrive at the vehicle check. Announce your arrival in the arrivals room at the vehicle check for a check of access documents.
- Only drivers and any personnel escorting the vehicle may accompany the vehicle through the vehicle check. Passengers are referred to the personnel check.
- Keep the vehicle clean, a newly cleaned vehicle facilitates the work for the security personnel and yourself. Keep the driver's compartment and the goods compartment tidy and easy to search. Only bring the items that are absolutely necessary to solve the task required at the site.
- Make sure that all the doors and covers are possible to open without any objects falling out.
- Pets are not allowed into the monitored area.
- The vehicle is searched, including the driver's compartment, by security personnel and a dog handler with a dog specialized in searching for explosives. In order to facilitate the procedure, you will be asked to open all the doors, the luggage boot, the bonnet, and all the external and internal compartments and covers before the search starts.
- The driver must also undergo a security check. Place your outdoor clothes, metal objects and luggage in the intended plastic trays.
- When your access rights can be verified by reading on the card reader and the security check has been performed with approved results, entrance via the vehicle security check may be granted.

Exit

Individuals

At exit via the security check, an exportation check takes place. Radiological measuring is performed at the revolving gates in order to ensure that any nuclear material/waste is not unlawfully taken out from the site.

- If an alarm is triggered in connection with the exit, please follow the security personnel's directions
- After an approved search has been performed, deactivation of the entrance to the site takes place via a card reader and exit via the revolving gates
- Request a certificate of X-ray performed at hospital since this may trigger an alarm to go off at the exit from the site.

Vehicles

Upon departure, an exportation check is performed at the vehicle security check. Radiological measuring is performed in order to ensure that any nuclear material/waste is not unlawfully taken out from the site.

- Upon desired departure, call for the security personnel via the entry phone placed on the wall between the gates at the vehicle security check
- When the light turns green, slowly drive into the vehicle check space
- If an alarm is triggered in connection to the exit, please follow the security personnel's directions
- After approved search, the driver's entrance is deactivated via a card reader, and if required, access documents are returned to the security guard at the vehicle check
- Upon green light, drive out from the vehicle security check.
